

All Posts

Q

The Yawning Chihuahua · Aug 3, 2024

⋮

Maruti Ertiga not really 1 star

seatbelt reminder scores not added but included in threshold *Latin NCAP, 2018-19

[Note: If you are just here to look for things to take out of context so you can peddle GNCAP conspiracy theories, please go away.]

No apologies for the title.

Global NCAP added a little bit of jugaad to their 2022 protocols to punish unfairly boosted ratings, but ended up missing a fatal flaw that is, in some cases, straight up designed to give better cars worse ratings.

I have to draw the line at something so silly, unnecessary and outrageously wrong.

You'll have to read on here, because Wix can't embed LaTeX:

GNCAP_Flaw_Full.pdf
Download PDF • 213KB

(4 Aug 19:28 – 2 typos fixed. rating maps to nonnegative integers and the definition for the 0-star case has been fixed)

P. S. it has been inherited into BNCAP
P. P. S. leave any questions on Twitter or email
(theyawningchihuahua@gmail.com), not in the Wix comments which I don't read

f X in 🔗

72 views 0 comments

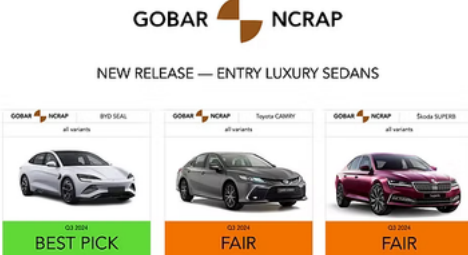

Recent Posts

See All

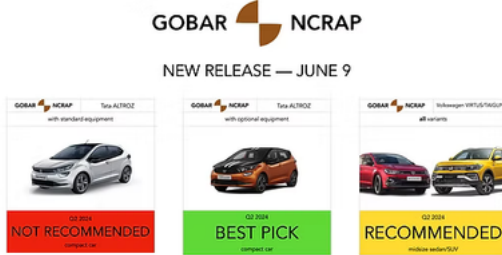

Expensive SUVs could do more for your safety

👁 144 💬 0 ❤️

Some Entry Luxury Sedans Fall Behind on...

👁 42 💬 0 ❤️

Tata Altroz Races Its Way to 'Best Pick'...

👁 30 💬 0 ❤️

Comments

Write a comment...

Sign up for the newsletter

Email *

Subscribe

☐ I want to subscribe to your mailing list. *

Have a question?

Follow

Email

